Sapient Press News

- New Journal Has Launched: Sapient published the first edition of the International Journal of Teaching, Education and Language Learning in August, 2014. This journal will focus on articles related to education and instruction. This edition of IJTELL can be found online at <http://www.sapientpress.com/archive-ijtell-v1e1.html> and contains three articles. The articles are related to plagiarism, grade distribution and language teaching methods.

Call for Publishing!

Sapient Press welcomes the submission of original manuscripts that relate to a broad range of business, economics and other social science related disciplines as well as topics related to teaching, education and language learning. Manuscripts should meet the general criteria of significance and scientific excellence. Sapient Press will publish articles in basic and applied research and case studies. Visit the site for more information.

We invite you to submit your manuscripts to editor@sapientpress.com for publication in one of our family of academic journals.

Featured Paper: Grade Distribution in Busan Universities: English Instructor Perspective

The article, Grade Distribution in Busan Universities: English Instructor Perspective, written by Andrew Gamble, and published in the International Journal of Teaching, Education and Language Learning is our featured paper for the season. This paper seeks to recognize some of the problems associated with norm-referencing grading in a language-learning environment by surveying foreign university language instructors teaching in Busan, South Korea.
